LOOK AT HOME.

Should you feel inclined to ensure faults you may in others view, Ask your own life, e'er you venture, If that has no failings too.

Let not friendly woes be broken; Rather strive a friend to gain Many a word in anger spoken Finds its passage back again.

Do not, then, in idle pleasure, Trifle with a brother's fate, Guard it as a valued treasure, Secure it by your own good name.

Do not form opinions blindly, Hasten to trouble tempests; Those of whom we thought kindly oft become our warmest friends.

Sudden Blutching of the State.

In the East Indian rebellion, Colonel Franks, after an engagement near the village of Chambal, took many prisoners, one of whom, a Bengalee, aged 54, was conducted before the authorities to undergo certain interrogations.

The charge which this man's appearance underwent are recorded by Surgeon Major Fanny. The prisoner for the first time, seemed to realize the danger of his situation, when he found himself stripped and surrounded with soldiers. He trembled violently, terror and despair being depicted on his countenance; and when replying to questions addressed to him, he appeared absolutely stupefied by fear.

"Then, under our eyes," continued the narrator, Mr. Fanny, "and in the space of some half an hour, his hair, which we had seen to be of a brilliant black, became gray on every part of his head. The sergeant who had charge of the prisoner cried out 'he is turning gray,' and called our attention to this singular phenomenon of which I thus, with many other persons, was enabled to observe the completion through all its phases."

TRAVELING BY BOAT.—"Hello, there Capin! I'stud a brother Jonathan to a captain of a canal packet boat, on the Erie Canal, "what do you charge for a passage?"

"Three cents per mile and boarded," said the captain.

"Well, I guess I'd passage capin, seeing as I am kinder gin out, walking so far."

According he got on board just as the steward was ringing for dinner. Jonathan drew up to the table, sat down, and began demolishing the "fixins," to the utter consternation of the captain, until he had cleaned the table of all that was eatable, when he got up and went on deck, picking his teeth very comfortably.

"How far is it, capin, from here to where I got on board?"

"Nenty one and a half miles," said the captain.

"Let's see," said Jonathan, "that would be just four and a half cents; but never mind, capin I won't be small here's five cents, which pays my fare to here. I guess I'll go ashore now; I'm kinder rest out."

GLYCERINE AND ITS USES.—Comparatively but a few years have elapsed since glycerine was thrown away as a waste produce from soap and steaming candle-works. Now it is one of the most useful products. Tubs and pads saturated with it will neither sink nor dry up. Leather soaked in it keeps moist and pliable. It is used for extracting the perfume of flowers; to preserve animal substance from decay, and hence its value for "preserving" purposes. It is employed in pharmacy, dyeing, brewing, liquor-making, wine-keeping, and for a vast variety of other purposes. With nitric acid it forms nitro-glycerine, and one of the most powerful explosives known.

One of the physicians of Burlington, Vt., driving into town on election morning, was met by a friend who bailed him with the question:

"Have you voted?"

"Not yet," replied the doctor; "but I have been out all night after a vote; I got him safe too."

"When will he vote?"

"Oh, about twenty-one years from now."

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored

[See Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essays on the radical cure, (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea, or Sexual Weakness, Involuntary Losses, Impotency, Mental and physical Incapacity, Impairment to marriage, etc., also, Consumption, Epilepsy, and fits induced by self indulgence, sexual excess, and privation.]

Price, a Small Volume, six cents.

The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and rapidly.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
